(Extended abstracts)

69th AIEST Conference of Ideas

Varna, Bulgaria

25th August (evening) –29th August 2019 (morning)

Comprised of 3 streams of discussion:

Stream of Discussion 1 (AIEST Central Discussion)

Business Models for sustainable Growth in Tourism

Stream of Discussion 2 (Conference Discussion)

Tourism Frontiers: Theories, Practices, Methodologies

Stream of Discussion 3

AIEST's Advances in Tourism Research -

Perspectives of Actors, Institutions and Systems

The International Association of Scientific Experts in Tourism (AIEST) is calling for contributions for its 69th Conference.

The three themes and core streams of discussion of the conference are

- (1) Business Models for sustainable Growth in Tourism*
- (2) Tourism Frontiers: Theories, Practices, Methodologies*
- (3) AIEST's Advances in Tourism Research - Perspectives of Actors, Institutions and Systems*

We are calling for academic and practitioners contributions to these themes.

However, interesting contributions NOT related to the theme of the conference are very welcomed as well and will be allocated to the stream AIEST's Advances in Tourism Research - Perspectives of Actors, Institutions and System (Stream 3).

The host of the conference is Professor Stanislav Ivanov, Vice Rector (Research) of the Varna University of Management, Varna, Bulgaria.

The location of the conference will be at Varna (Bulgaria), from Sunday evening 25th August 2019 until Wednesday evening, 28th August 2019 (with departures on Thursday morning after breakfast, August 29, 2019). During August 25, and prior to the start of the conference on Sunday evening, we shall organise a number of professional academic and practitioner workshops with different topics (tbd).

1 Overview

1.1 Introductory remarks

AIEST was the first scientific organisation in tourism. Since its foundation, the Association has engaged in applied, interdisciplinary and solution-oriented research. The membership of AIEST is not limited to academics. It is based on the partnership between senior academic members and leading scientifically interested expert members from tourism companies and organisations.

The annual AIEST conference primarily intends to facilitate exchange and to enhance amicable relations between its participants (members of AIEST and non-members, experienced and young career academics and practitioners). Moreover, it wants to provide a platform to discuss topical work from and with academia and practice alike in a friendly, supportive environment. So, and as a delegate of a previous conference pointed out,

“AIEST conferences are spaces occupied by modest experts, helping you improve your research and/ or deal with practical challenges.”

Overall three streams of and for discussion shall be set up:

- Stream of Discussion 1 to accommodate contribution to the AIEST Central Discussion Business Models for sustainable Growth in Tourism.
- Stream of Discussion 2 to accommodate contributions to the conference theme Tourism Frontiers: Theories, Practices, Methodologies, with the following sub-tracks (indicative):
 - Track 1: Frontiers in Tourism Research
 - Latest advances in tourism studies
 - The future of tourism research
 - Track 2: Frontiers in Tourism Research Methodologies
 - Innovative qualitative, quantitative and mixed methods for data collection and analysis in tourism research
 - Research ethics challenges
 - Track 3: Frontiers in Tourism Practice
 - Business and product innovations
 - Tourism, culture and creative industries
 - The non-human traveller in tourism – robots, pets and teddy bears

- Stream of Discussion 3, called AIEST's Advances in Tourism Research - Perspectives of Actors, Institutions and Systems, to accommodate all other contributions.

The Conference targets two major types of intervention and groups of participants:

- Academia, who is invited to present state-of-the-art research in one or more of the major streams of discussion and who are willing to contribute from their scientific perspective to build an interdisciplinary body of knowledge. Submissions shall be classified according to the stage of the work, including:
 - (1) Basic conceptual ideas, seeking general feedback;
 - (2) Research design and methodology, seeking validation of logic and plan;
 - (3) Study results, seeking inputs for its discussion;
 - (4) Study results and discussion, seeking inputs for conclusions;
 - (5) Completed studies, seeking final feedbacks.
- Practice, who is invited to provide latest trends, concepts and cases in the field of the streams of discussion and who may provide guidance with regard to prospective research questions. Submissions shall be classified according to the stage of the work, including:
 - (1) Basic conceptual ideas or projects, seeking for general feedback
 - (2) (Observed) problems or challenges, seeking an explanation
 - (3) (Explained) problems or challenges, seeking a solution
 - (4) Think tank type of session on specific topics (multilateral exchange)

For more details, refer to the following sections of this call.

1.2 Streams of discussion

As indicated earlier, there are three streams of discussion:

- Stream of Discussion 1 to accommodate contribution to the AIEST Central Discussion Business Models for sustainable Growth in Tourism.
- Stream of Discussion 2 to accommodate contributions to the conference theme Tourism Frontiers: Theories, Practices, Methodologies (and the related sub-tracks).
- Stream of Discussion 3, called AIEST's Advances in Tourism Research - Perspectives of Actors, Institutions and Systems, to accommodate all other contributions.

In all streams of discussion, we invite participants from different scientific disciplines and tourism related industries to contribute to the following four major sub-streams:

- Actors behaviour, consisting of contributions focusing on behavioural issues of consumers, management, politicians, etc.;
- Institutional settings, consisting of contributions focusing on topics such as entrepreneurship and innovation, cooperation and strategic alliances, ITC and productivity led-growth, structural change in leading tourism relevant industries, etc.;
- Systemic perspective, consisting of contributions focusing on topics such as the analysis of the market forces, marketing management of destinations, tourism promotion and policies, management of tourism related resources, sustainable development in tourism, regulation and governance of places, etc.
- Other, consisting of contributions that cannot be classified as above.

Please be aware that all contributions to the Stream of Discussion 1 and 2 need to be scoped around issues relating to the topics of those streams. No such restrictions are applied in the Stream of Discussion 3.

1.3 Types of intervention

There are two types of interventions following the two different target groups:

- We invite Academia to submit topical research results or conceptual models providing the basis for inspiring and controversial sessions. The relevance of the contribution and the interest it raises are as important as the methodical rigour. Out-of-the-box thinking is encouraged. Important: The copyrights remain with authors at all times. This allows submissions of the most recent work in progress. All submissions will be double blind reviewed.

The format of contributions consists of extended abstracts with a maximum (!) length of 12,000 characters Times New Roman 12 pts. (including blanks; excl. references, figures and tables). You can download a formatted master copy (AIESTContribution_2019.doc) from AIEST homepage (www.aiest.org). For each contribution, there will be either 10 or 20 minutes for presentation and at least 10-15 minutes of discussion.

- We invite Practice to put forward thoughts on the challenges it faces. New ideas and concepts should be discussed in an inspiring and critical way. Out of the mainstream thinking is explicitly welcomed. All practitioners' submissions will be assessed by the Committee of the AIEST.

The format of contributions consists of short Power Point presentations of a maximum of 10-15 charts (excluding title pages and possible references). For each contribution, there will be 10 or 20 minutes for presentation and at least 10-15 minutes of discussion.

1.4 Awards

Overall, 3 different awards are going to be offered at this conference. They include:

- The AIEST BEST CONTRIBUTION AWARD for the overall best contribution at this conference (irrespective if this contribution stems from an academic or practitioner);
- The PETER KELLER AWARD for the best contribution uniting theory and practice (irrespective if this contribution stems from an academic or practitioner);
- The AIEST PhD AWARD for the best academic contribution of a PhD candidate at this conference.

1.5 Organisation of the conference

The programme of the Conference includes different formats:

- Pre conference: Young Researchers Workshop on Sunday (cf. to separate call) as well as a number of different professional workshops;
- Opening session: Dialogue of AIEST with representatives of the host country on Monday morning;
- Conference:
 - Keynotes from academia and practice (still under way)
 - Academic paper sessions with a range of different papers and presentations;
 - Practitioner presentation sessions with a range of different presentations;
 - Technical excursions.

2 Submission guidelines

The submission guidelines are applicable no matter to what stream of discussion you submit.
